

The map shows the United States with a red shaded area representing the study region. The map includes a grid of small circles and a legend indicating the study area.